

IWFA COMPLIANCE ALERT
NEW MEXICO

To: Manufacturers, Distributors, and Installers

From: Lynwood Butner, IWFA Legislative Consultant

Date: March 16, 2015

Subject: Compliance with Tinting Laws

The New Mexico State Police has announced that it will be enforcing vehicle window tint violations in an effort to increase compliance with state law.

The International Window Film Association fully supports this initiative as New Mexico has a reasonable law that has worked well for the enforcement community, citizens, and its members. It is critical that our industry make every effort to fully comply with the law. IWFA will provide assistance to the State Police in any manner requested to ensure that the desired compliance is achieved.

Current state law allows for 20 percent visible light transmittance (vlt) on the front side and rear windows. This standard will be strictly enforced. All installers not complying with the statutory provisions will be subject to violations.

IWFA will work with the New Mexico enforcement community in any manner possible to achieve compliance and strongly recommends that our members make every effort to achieve this goal!
